Cross Trainer Elliptical Machine

SKU: Superfit-7002

Features

- The ergonomically correct pedal position provides the ultimate natural motion
- The types of feedback the users will see on the screen are: Speed Time Watts Calories RPM Distance Heart Rate Resistance Level
- The incorporated self-generating brake system allows the user to “free-wheel”. This means when the user stops exercising the pedals stop with them.
- The transportation wheels allow users to easily and safely move the unit.
- This cross trainer features many great attachments including Integrated reading tray and a water bottle holder.
- The large ergonomic handles feature two position options, with heart rate contact sensors on front handlebars
- An important feature in almost all areas of fitness and exercise is the ability to progress and regress. The ability to change the resistance levels allow users to begin with light resistance and increase it as their strength and stamina improve. It also allows for a more varied workout – which is important for doing interval or sprint style training.
