A Smith Machine In Your Home Gym Allows You To Perform Many Compound Exercises Safely.

The best home Smith machines should be durable, smooth operating, and backed by a generous warranty.

Ideal if you want to exercise at home, but also an excellent, complete piece of equipment for the gym or rehabilitation center.

Basing on many years of experience in the production of professional-strength equipment, it allows the most advanced bodybuilding training at home.

Our Smith Machine has a bar angle that follows the natural path of movement for pressing or squatting.

Smith machine TEKKEN-5142 provides the super smooth action that all good quality Smith Machines have in common.

smooth Operation, Adjustable spring-loaded safety catches, give the user the confidence to push the maximum weight.

The high tensile strength Olympic bar is driven by a roller system that incorporates bearing drive nylon reinforced wheels for the ultimate in stability, safety, and smoothness.

The unique frame design allows optimal and comfortable training of all muscle groups. The huge load capacity will satisfy even the most demanding bodybuilders, allowing you to exercise with over 300kg of the load.

In comparison to other devices, which must be screwed to the floor, the TEKKEN-5142 is totally stable due to the presence of multiple support points, stiffness, and thickness of metal structural components, which greatly affect the comfort and safety of the exercise.

The Smith Machine is a great piece of equipment to use when the gym is busy.

Instead of walking around the gym and trying to find an open machine or the dumbbells that you need, you can do your entire leg workout on the machine.

Customers can buy from us a wide range of New Design Smith Machines.

The latest and advanced technology is used to manufacture these machines and helps in fitness practice and helps to lose weight from the abdominal area.

Further, these machines are available in various models and can be bought at market leading prices from us.
